Arkansas Child Welfare Report Card
In Compliance with Act 1222 of 1995
Report Period July 2004 – June 2005
Executive Summary

For FY 05 the age and gender of committed juvenile offenders remained overwhelmingly males between 15 and 17 years of age. For the prior two years the percentage of Caucasian youth committed had been increasing and commitments for African-American youth were decreasing. This trend was reversed in FY 05 with a 3% decrease in Caucasian youth and a 13% increase in African-American youth committed to DYS. In FY 05 there was also a 4% increase of youth recommitted to DYS and the number of youth committed for felony type offenses increased by 22%. Of greatest significance is the trend in the number of youth committed. In FY 2000, 752 juveniles, and in FY 2001 just less than 600 juveniles, were committed to DYS. The number of commitments to DYS fell again in FY 2002 and through FY 2004 averaging around 525 annually. Commitments to DYS have increased. In FY 2005 commitments increased by 8% from the prior year and over the past four years DYS has experienced a 12% increase in commitments.

With all DYS facilities operating at full capacity the increased commitments have taxed our ability to intake and place youth. In the short term the most viable counter to increased commitments is to increase releases by reducing the length of time in placement. In FY 2005 DYS reduced the average length of stay in the regional facilities by 10% (201 from 222 days) and almost 20% (75 from 93 days) at Alexander. This reduced length of stay has not been the result of a specific policy change in the length of stay the programs are designed for, but rather an examination of specific youth on a case-by-case basis with a decision to return to community supervision youth who have been particularly successful in the residential treatment. Nevertheless, one consequence of the increased commitments is an increase in the use of local juvenile detention centers to hold juveniles committed to DYS pending available space for placement or intake processing.

Short term measures to help address this trend include adding 10 beds within the current Dermott juvenile correctional facility campus and expanding the practice of doing the psychological and psychosexual evaluations while youth are in detention, thereby eliminating the need to do that part of the intake process at the Alexander facility. DYS is also having a population projection done to forecast this trend and provide needed information to allow for good long term planning for how we should manage the number and type of youth that will be committed to the state’s care.

* Since the Hotline and the Investigations unit are two separate sections within the Arkansas State Police, the Hotline may accept an incident called in, then later the incident will not be investigated by the Investigations Unit after review of the circumstances. The DYS IAU never receives a follow-up on these reports to know whether they were ever investigated. Some of these incidents occurred prior to the juvenile being committed to DYS. The IAU does not receive notification of the findings in these incidents. Some incidents that are reported in one quarter may not be finalized by the State Police until sometime within the next quarter.
